Some ice was formed on the river, and every morning big frosts have been seen. From various signs, such as thick coat of fur-bearing animals, heavy shuck on corn, and others, the weather-wise say we may expect a severe winter.

Thanksgiving Day in Lexington

Thanksgiving Day was quite generally observed in Lexington last Thursday. The stores and public buildings were closed, business generally suspended, and the public schools and colleges enjoyed a holiday. A few sportsmen sought the field, but the inclemency of the day greatly marred the pleasure of the occasion.

The sudden change of the weather from spring-like warmth to the biting cold of mid-winter, made the fireside a pleasant place to spend the day, and many were those who enjoyed the comfort and cheer of their homes rather than brave the disagreeable temperature in making visits. Pleasant family reunions were held and many of the absent members of the household returned to the roof-tree for the day. In many homes the juicy turkey and cranberry sauce constituted the principal dish for the mid-day meal.

A union service was held in the Lexington Presbyterian church in the morning by the different congregations of the town. The sermon, a most appropriate and comforting one, was preached by the pastor, Rev. Thompson B. Southall. The music was led by the church choir, and the Te Deum rendered by the choir was greatly appreciated by the congregation, not alone for the beautiful sentiment expressed but also for its exquisite rendition. Mr. Southall was assisted in the service by Rev. Dr. Charles Manly and Rev. J. O. Knott. Dr. Manly read the President's proclamation. An offering was received for the benefit of the poor of the community, and quite a nice sum was realized.

W. L. U. Thanksgiving German
The annual German given by the Cotillion Club of Washington and Lee University was danced Monday night in the University gymnasium, and was one of the most enjoyable dances ever given by this club. The opening figure was led by Mr. B. B. Shields, president of the club, and Miss Rosa Johnston Tucker. Other figures were led by Mr. Shields with Miss Tucker and Mr. Stevens with Miss Haskins. At twelve o'clock an informal supper was served, after which the dance broke up.

Among those dancing were Miss Dunlap of Lexington, with Mr. Hamilton; Miss Tait of Norfolk, with Mr. Caperton; Miss Haskins of Lexington, with Mr. Stevens; Miss Strayer of Harrisonburg, with Dr. Bitzer; Miss Strayer of Harrisonburg, with Mr. Haygood; Miss Bell of Staunton, with Mr. Bagley; Miss Bowles of Staunton, with Mr. Pruitt; Miss Tucker of Lexington, with Mr. Brown; Miss Brockenbrough of Lexington, with Mr. Dunn; Miss Caslie of Lynchburg, with Mr. Miles; Miss Effinger of Baltimore, with Mr. Cooper; Miss Powell of Duluth, Minn., with Mr. May.

Following were the chaperones: Mrs. S. B. Walker, Jr., Mrs. E. M. Pendleton, Mrs. L. Owen, Mrs. LeConte Stevens, Mrs. J. W. Kern and Miss Annie E. White.

An interesting paper on the causes leading to the Civil War was read by Mr. A. T. Barclay of Lee-Jackson Camp. A vote of thanks was extended Mr. Barclay by the camp for his excellent paper.

Golf Tournament in Roanoke

The Lexington Golf Club and the Roanoke Golf Club played the fourth match with each other in Roanoke on Thanksgiving Day. The result was 10½ points for Lexington and 1½ for Roanoke, out of a possible 24.

The score was as close as could be not to result in a tie, as three of Lexington's players were successful in winning the maximum three points. One tied his opponent, and four met defeat.

The Lexington players were Messrs. W. M. McElwee, H. D. Campbell, J. W. McClung, S. G. Pettigrew, D. C. Humphreys, J. R. Long, B. E. Vaughan and F. H. Brockenbrough.

The Roanoke players were Messrs. J. C. Cassell, L. H. Cooke, G. H. Dugdale, S. P. Figgat, J. B. Lacy, Ernest Fishburne, J. A. Reid and W. S. Sanders.

For the season each club has won two contests, and the fifth match will be played next spring, on neutral ground, to decide the match of the last three out of five.

The Lexington players were loud in their expressions of appreciation of the hospitality shown them while in Roanoke.

Every thing possible was done which could add to their comfort. A delightful "lunch," consisting of roasted oysters, served on half shell, hot coffee with bread and butter and sandwiches, was served on the links, at one o'clock, and dinner at six o'clock at the club house.

Mr. Perkins and his bride will leave on the 10:30 Chesapeake and Ohio train for a wedding trip. They will reside at Fork Union.

Pretty Thanksgiving Marriage

An interesting marriage was solemnized Thanksgiving Day at the home of the bride on Walker's Creek, when Miss Fannie Moore Walker was wedded to Mr. Frederick Hale Montgomery of Montgomery, W. Va. The marriage took place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the presence of a number of friends and relatives. Rev. C. G. Brown of Chester, S. C., a brother-in-law of the bride, officiated. He was assisted by Rev. Dr. William M. Morrison of near Lexington.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Walker, as maid of honor, and the best man was Mr. Edward Brightwell of Montgomery, W. Va. The bride was dressed in white chiffon, over a blue gown, and the maid of honor in white chiffon. Six other young ladies were bridesmaids, and they were gowned in blue green. Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery drove to Staunton Thursday afternoon and left on their bridal trip. They will make their home in West Virginia. The bride is a daughter of the late Capt. James A. Walker. She is an attractive and popular young lady.

All Quiet at the V. M. I.

Normal conditions now prevail at the Virginia Military Institute, after a month of excitement and turmoil, occasioned by the complaints of food conditions and the insubordination of members of the third class.

Beginning last Friday the members of the offending class will not be allowed to leave the limits for sixty days. This was the penalty imposed by the Board of Visitors at their meeting held in Lexington November 9th-11th. The unfortunate boys are not pleased with the prospect of keeping within bounds for that length of time, especially since the Christmas and New Year holidays come within the time mentioned.

Dr. Fahrney's Teething Syrup is absolutely harmless and is the medicine for babies the whole year. Cures indigestion.

Rev. Mr. Pratt and Miss Syme Married in Washington

The Washington Post of Thursday, November 30th, published the following notice of the marriage of Rev. Harry Waddell Pratt, son of Mrs. Maria W. Pratt of Lexington, and Miss Mary Maxwell Syme of Washington:

The marriage of Miss Mary Maxwell Syme, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. S. A. M. Maxwell of this city, to the Rev. Harry Waddell Pratt, took place yesterday at noon at the Southern Presbyterian church, of which the bridegroom is the pastor. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frank J. Brooke, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Alexandria, Va., assisted by the Rev. S. L. Laws of this city.

The maid of honor was Miss Jane Gray Syme, sister of the bride, and the Rev. Dr. W. Hollingsworth was the best man. The ushers were Dr. William H. Syme, brother of the bride, and Dr. LeRoy C. Barrett of Baltimore. Two flower boys, little nephews of the bride, Samuel and Leander, and the bride's bridesmaids, were also in attendance and led the bridal procession. They wore white suits with light blue ties and carried large bouquets of white blossoms.

The bride wore a gown of champagne broadcloth, with hat of blue tulle, and carried a bouquet of Bride roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore light blue eolienne, with hat to match and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. The church was elaborately decorated with chrysanthemums, Bride roses and palms. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left on a Northern bridal trip. The bride's traveling costume was of blue cloth, with hat to match.

Rev. and Mrs. Pratt will be at home after December 15th at No. 2119 California Avenue, Northwest.

Christmas Buyers and Buying

The Christmas trade in Lexington is beginning to show an increase in volume. Nearly all the stores in town carry special lines of goods for the holiday season, and their tempting wares are finding ready customers. Many persons make their Christmas purchases before the rush of the few days just previous to Christmas is on, and in that way they have more time to select what they want, and there are much more varied stocks from which to choose.

Many persons are always on the lookout for bargains, and they argue that prices are reduced near the conclusion of the holiday trade. For that reason many persons put off their purchases until in the midst of the Christmas trade.

An examination of the advertising columns of THE GAZETTE will show prospective buyers where to deal. The articles carried by these dealers are too numerous for mention. Consequently all our readers are requested to make their purchases at these stores.

Graham-Lee Won Debate

The second annual debate between the Graham-Lee and Washington Literary Societies of Washington and Lee University took place last Thursday evening in the University chapel. The Graham-Lees were the winners, as they were in the first contest.

The question debated was, "Resolved, That the Inter-State Commerce Commission should be given power to fix railroad rates." The affirmative was defended by the Washington Society, whose speakers were Messrs. D. S. MacDonald, W. F. Sample and R. B. Stephenson; while the Graham-Lee Society upheld the negative with Messrs. C. R. Pilkington, J. W. Flannagan and J. H. Larrick.

The committee of judges, composed of Dr. Jas. A. Quarles, Prof. Abram P. Staples and Dr. W. S. Currell, awarded the honors of the contest to the Graham-Lee Society.

Music was furnished by the Virginia Military Institute orchestra.

Wise-Turnbull

Mr. Harvey C. Wise left Lexington Saturday evening over the Chesapeake and Ohio for Orlando, Florida, where on Thursday, December 7th, he will wed Miss Anna Halsted Turnbull, daughter of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Turnbull, who are spending the winter in Florida. The ceremony will be a quiet affair and Dr. Turnbull will officiate.

After a Southern trip of several weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Wise will return to Lexington where they will make their future home. Miss Turnbull is an attractive young lady and is popular in the social circles of Lexington. Mr. Wise has been a resident of Lexington for the past seven years, and now holds the responsible position of assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Lexington.

Services at Baptist Church

The protracted services this week at the Lexington Baptist church are creating interest in the community. Rev. Dr. C. S. Gardner of Richmond, is assisting the pastor, Rev. Dr. Charles Manly, and is holding two services daily, at 8 o'clock in the afternoon and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. Dr. Gardner preached his first sermon on Monday evening. He is a forceful and sympathetic preacher, and has made a fine impression on his congregations. The meetings will continue this week.

Cadets Lost Thanksgiving Game in Richmond

The Virginia Military Institute football team lost the Thanksgiving game in Richmond to the Virginia Polytechnic Institute by the score of 34 to 0 in 35 minute halves. The cadet team left Lexington Wednesday morning over the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad for Richmond. Accompanying the team were Trainer Johnson, Assistant Trainer James and Manager Phister.

The corps of cadets, under command of Captain Ragland, went to Richmond Wednesday night on a special excursion and returned Friday morning. A number of Lexingtonians took advantage of the cheap rates and went down on the excursion.

The following report of the game is taken from the Richmond Times-Dispatch of Friday:

Shivering in the chill blasts of a nor'wester that ripped through grandstand and bleacheries, with a withering face that neither sunshine nor enthusiasm could withstand, about 5,000 persons yesterday afternoon saw the sturdy sons of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute tear up the gray Virginia Military Institute line, send the pigskin about the field almost at will, and end a long, lopsided game with a score of 34 to 0.

Upon the gridiron the long halves were fought out, the play progressing smoothly enough, with few interruptions and no serious accidents. The Lexington eleven was outclassed. In vain it hammered at the Tech. line, which was immovable as a stone wall when attacked, and almost invincible when attacking. With Carpenter and one or two other stars out of the game, the V. P. I. aggregation was, nevertheless, never in better form, and with its superior weight and playing had things its own way. The cadets stiffened toward the close, but the only effect was to check the onrush of the Techs., not to turn it back. By this time the day had been lost, and half the shivering crowd was gone.

Play began upon time, and was notably free of interruptions. Several men were knocked out at different times, and the 'hospital' corps on the side lines was kept busy. Nobody was seriously hurt, however, and the knocked out players were usually upon their feet again well before the time limit expired. The V. M. I. cadet corps was out in force and in full uniform. After a march around the field, the corps took up a position at the western end of the north bleachers, and from this point cheered lustily and sent forth encouraging yells throughout the evening, whether the cadet team was losing or gaining. Iardella's Band was with the corps.

The Lexington eleven made a plucky fight, but could not overcome the odds against it. The team was distinctly outclassed and could do nothing with the heavy work of its opponents. Penque and Fraser played well at the ends, but the backs were weak. In the first half the team made a poor showing. V. P. I. smashed through the line with ease and brought the half to a close with a score of 22 to 0. In the second half the cadets pulled up strongly, and from then on made the Techs. fight hard for every inch gained. V. M. I.'s defensive work during this half was excellent, the team holding Blacksburg for downs several times. But, while they checked the onrush of the Techs. somewhat, the cadets could make no advances. Hammer it as they might, the Tech. line never wavered, and whenever the two came together, V. M. I. invariably gave ground.

The line-up of the teams was as follows:

V. P. I.	Position	V. M. I.
Lewis	right end	Paoge
Strickling	right guard	Stude
Stiles	center	Hancock
Nutter	quarterback	Byrd
Cox	right half back	Buckner
Harlan	full back	Messie
Referee	Graham Poe, Princeton
umpire	Abbott, Yale

A Lexington citizen shows you how: J. Withrow, the well known clothing merchant on the corner of Main and Washington streets, says: "For two years off and on, I was troubled with backache and a dull tired aching across the loins with sharp pains in the kidneys if I stooped or lifted anything. I noticed Doan's Kidney Pills advertised to cure such complaints and I concluded if they performed half what they promised they were just the remedy I needed, so I got a box at B. H.
